Bbbbbbbb. Numb. 4399.

The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, November 29. 1715.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Nov. 30.

Lisbon, October 29.

THE King has published an Edict, whereby he forbids the admitting foreign Ships into the Ports of Brazil which come thither for Commerce, injoyning Governors and other Officers to take Care to this Edict in Execution, upon pain of Confiscation of Goods and Loss of their Places Civil and Military, and the Right of Naturality, in case of Neglect. It is provided by the same Edict in what Manner those foreign Ships shall be treated, who are obliged to put into Brazil and other Portugueze Colonies.

Vienna, Nov. 13. 'Count Reventlau, Minister of Gottorp, seeing that the Imperial Court is absolutely determined to do nothing in favour of the King of Sweden but by Way of Mediation, has resolved to return to Hamburgh. Count Welz, formerly the Emperor's Envoy in Sweden, and afterwards his Plenipotentiary in the Bishoprick of Liege, departed from hence two Days ago to travel with the Electoral Prince of Bavaria in Quality of his Governor. It is at the repeated Instances of the Elector of Bavaria, that his Imperial Majesty has named one of his own Servants for that Function: But in the mean time it appears plainly that the Marriage of the Electoral Prince with the eldest Daughter of the late Emperor Joseph is at least put off for some time. The Count de Luc, Ambassador of France, finds the Air of Vienna not at all favourable to his Constitution, nor perhaps to his Affairs. He is so far from recovering his Health, that according to all Appearances he would not be in a Condition for a long time to receive Audience of the Emperor with the requisite Ceremonies, although the Obstacles that have arisen on both Sides were to be immediately removed. The hopes of a Male Heir to the Austrian Dominions has occasioned great Joy in all People ever since the Empress's being with Child, and that Joy was more remarkable at Court Yesterday, upon the Information that her Imperial Majesty is Quick, and great Wagers are laid that it is an Arch-Duke.

Vienna, Nov. 15. 'Since the Imperial Court has been informed of the Subject of the Propositions the Turkish Ambassador has to make, his Imperial Majesty has countermanded the Sending of General Altheim, who was to go to meet him, being resolved not to let him come into the Imperial Territories. We are continually at work upon the Naval Armament to be made use of against Dantzic, and Tumbes &c. for building Ships is daily carrying on. The Admiral who is to command that Fleet is upon the Road to Italy, and will bring with him a great many Seamen. Several Prames, according to the Model of those of the King of Denmark, are building, and will be finished this Winter. Many Troops defile privately from the Austrian Territories and Bohemia towards Hungary; so that we compute there will be a very formidable Army in that Kingdom by the Spring. It appears also that the Court will this Winter [illegible] Number of Forces necessary to [illegible] were Regulations are already made relating to the Correspondence with Turkey, according to which all the Letters of Foreign Ministers sent hither, are to be sealed by the Seal of the Imperial Chancery of War, and not be put into the Hands of the Secretary of War to be sent forwards, unless great, still greater demonstrations that the War with the Porte is inclined upon.

Dresden, Nov. 16. 'Tis continued to be talked that his Majesty will depart in 12 or 15 Days for Poland, his Horse-Guards having Orders to be ready to March. The Troubles in that Kingdom instead of diminishing augment, and the Number of the Confederates encrease daily. The Nobility of the Palatinate of Russia have formed a Camp near Jaraslaw, which is the principal Rendezvous of the Malecontents, who by their Deputies made a Declaration to the Castellan of Lemberg, that they are ready to acknowledge King Augustus for their Lawful Sovereign, provided that he will deliver the Kingdom from the Saxon Troops, and the unjust Exactions they are oppressed with. They write from Cracow, that the Malecontents have massacred many Saxons, and that they have made 300 Russians of the Army of General Bauer Prisoners; and 'tis even said they have a design to carry them to Chozim, to let the Porte see that his Czarian Majesty has caused his Troops to enter Poland contrary to the Treaty made at Pruth. On the other Side, the Saxon Troops have begun to form a Camp upon the River Pileeza near Warka, seven Leagues distant from Warsaw, which will be reinforced by divers Regiments of both Horse and Foot. They have been joyned by three Muscovite Regiments of Dragoons which were to have gone to Pomerania, as also by the Body of the Palatine of Culm. The Great Crown General and divers other Senators of Distinction continue at Lemberg, and we do not hear that any of them have taken Part with the Malecontents.

Dresden, Nov. 21. 'The King's Guards have not yet received Orders to depart for Poland, but as we hear that the Intestine Troubles of that Kingdom grow daily worse, 'tis believed it will not be long before they will have Order to march. In the mean time it appears that his Majesty has an Inclination to tarry here some time longer. There is a Report that Marshal the Spoole of the Field-Marshal Count Fleming has been massacred upon the Road [illegible] [illegible] Men that were her Guard, for the [illegible] Bohemia; but this needs Confirmation. They write from Posen of the 13th of November, that a Party of the Rebels have taken Prisoners one Company of the Saxon Schaumburg, and that another Party have massacred 22 Saxons near Klochlo, and that the Burghers are fain to keep Guard there Day and Night to avoid being surprised by them.

Hague, Nov. 29. 'We hear by Letters from the Camp before Wismar of Yesterday, that the Swedes had in the Night quitted the Post of Timbogen, having understood that they were upon the Point of being attacked. The Confederate Troops immediately took Possession of it, and found there a good Quantity of Provisions. They sent Advice by a Trumpet to the Governor of Wismar of the Defeat of the Swedish Army in Rugen, with all the Circumstances of it; to which he answered, that the Victory as they related it was too great to be credited. The Deputies of the Regency at Stoden have set up a Placart on the Stade House of Bremen, whereby it is ordered, that all those who profess Loyalty to the King of Sweden, do come and give Notice of it to the Regency of Stoden in a certain time. Letters from Stockholm of the 8th mention, that the Hereditary Prince of Hesse Cassel is made Lieutenant of the Kingdom, and that his Swedish Majesty has declared M. Ranck a Lieutenant General, although he has not formerly served in the Swedish Armies, which is looked upon as a great Innovation.

Rome, Dec. [illegible] that Ambassador to the King of Portugal, is arrived here very incognito.

unexpectedly. He came from Lisbon without the Knowledge of the King his Brother, having covered his Design with a pretence of going a Hunting, and went on board an English Ship, who, upon a Signal agreed upon between them, took him in and brought him hither. As soon as the King heard of his Departure, supposing him gone to England, he dispatched a Courier to Don Louis d'Acunha, with order for him to go immediately to London, which he was preparing to do accordingly; but the same Day a Courier arrived from Amsterdam, with the News that the Prince was there: Whereupon the Count de Tarouca and Don Louis d'Acunha went thither immediately to accompany him hither. 'Tis said he is served at Table with all the Honours he used to receive in Portugal: That he dines alone, and is served upon the Knee. When he washes, the Count de Tarouca holds the Ewer, and Don Louis d'Acunha the Bason. He has no other Retinue than the Son of the Count de Tarouca, and two Valets de Chambre. The Ministers of Portugal have dispatched away an Express to give the King their Master Advice of his Arrival.

The Spanish Ambassador, Don Mirabel y Spinola, will depart from hence this Week to return to Spain, without ever having had an Audience of the States; and 'tis said another is already named is his Place, who is called the Marquis de Castillon.

A Turkish Aga is lately arrived here upon Affairs of Trade.
